

What is the ruling on sending salaams to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) with those who are going to Madinah?

[English]

ما حكم إرسال السلام للنبي صلى الله عليه وسلم مع الذهابين للمدينة؟
[]

By:

Muhammed Salih Al-Munajjid

Source:

www.islam-qa.com

Islamic Propagation Office in Rabwah, Riyadh

2009-1430

islamhouse.com

What is the ruling on sending salaams to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) with those who are going to Madinah?

What is the ruling on sending salaams to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) with the pilgrims?.

Praise be to Allah.

This action is not prescribed in Islam, and there is no one who did that during the three best generations, or among the wise Muslims, because anyone can send salaams upon the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) wherever he is. Allah has guaranteed that this salaam will be conveyed by the angels whom He has appointed for this task. Based on this, whoever sends salaams upon the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), in any place, his salaam will reach him for sure. What comparison can there be between this and asking one who is going to visit Madinah to convey salaams to the Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), when you do not know whether he will convey it or not, or whether the person will remember or forget?

It was narrated that 'Abd-Allaah ibn Mas'ood (may Allah be pleased with him) said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "Allah has angels who go around on earth, conveying to me the salaam of my ummah." Narrated by al-Nasaa'i, 1282; classed as Sahih by al-Albaani in Sahih al-Targheeb, 1664.

It was narrated that Abu Hurayrah (may Allah be pleased with him) said: The Messenger of Allah (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "Do not take your houses as graves and do not take my grave as a place of festivity (which you visit repeatedly). Send blessings upon me for your greeting will reach me no matter where you are." Narrated by Abu Dawood, 2042; classed as Sahih by al-Albaani in Sahih al-Jaami', 7226.

Shaykh 'Abd al-Rahmaan ibn Naasir al-Barraak (may Allah preserve him), a member of faculty in the Imam Muhammad ibn Sa'ood Islamic University, said:

There is no basis for sending salaams to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) with one who is travelling to Madinah. It was not the habit of the righteous salaf of the Sahaabah (may Allah be pleased with them), Taabi'een or scholars to send salaams in this manner, and no such thing has been narrated, because the blessings of the ummah are conveyed to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), as it says in the Sahih hadith: "Do not take your houses as graves and do not take my grave as a place of festivity (which you visit repeatedly). Send blessings upon me for your greeting will reach me no matter where you are." Narrated by Abu Dawood, 2042. According to another version: "For your salaam will reach me no matter where you are." Narrated by Abu Ya'la, 469.

Based on this, sending salaams to the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) as an act or worship is an innovation (bid'ah). In fact it is not prescribed to send salaam to anyone who is deceased, rather salaams are to be said to the dead by one who visits him (his grave), as the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) used to visit the graves in al-Baqee' and say salaam to them and make du'aa' for them. And he taught his companions (may Allah be pleased with them) what to say when visiting graves, such as when he (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: "Al-salaamu 'alaykum ahl al-diyaar min al-mu'mineen wa'l-Muslimeen, wa inna in sha Allah bikum laahiqoon, nas'al Allaaha lana wa lakum al-'aafiyah (Peace be upon you, O people of the dwellings, believers and Muslims. If Allah wills we will join you. We ask Allah to grant us and you safety). Narrated by Muslim, 975.

And he said to 'Aa'ishah (may Allah be pleased with her): "Say: Al-salaamu 'ala ahl il-diyaar min al-mu'mineen wa'l-Muslimeen, wa yarham Allah al-mustaqdimеena minna wa'l-musta'khireen, wa innaa in sha Allah bikum la laahiqoon (Peace be upon the inhabitants of the graves, believers and Muslims. May Allah have mercy upon those who have gone ahead of us and those who come later on, and verily we will, in sha Allah, join you)." Narrated by Muslim, 974.

Rather salaams should be conveyed from one who is absent to one who is living.

The point is that Allah has made it easy for this ummah to send blessings and peace upon their Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), and to do that a great deal, from any spot on earth. It was narrated that Allah has appointed angels over the grave of the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) who convey to him the blessings and salaams of his ummah upon him. And Allah knows best.

Shaykh Ibn 'Uthaymeen (may Allah have mercy on him) said:

We say: if you send salaam upon him from the farthest ends of the earth, your salaam will reach him, because Allah has appointed angels who travel about the earth, and if anyone sends salaams upon the Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him), they convey that salaam to the Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him). So if we say now, "O Allah, send blessings and peace upon the Messenger of Allah," our salaam will be transmitted to him. In prayer we say, “Al-salaamu ‘alayka ayyuha’l-nabiyyu wa rahmat-Allaahi wa barakaatuhu (Peace be upon you, O Prophet, and the mercy of Allah and His blessings),” and the salaam is transmitted to him...

I have heard some people saying in Madinah, “My father asked me to give his salaams to the Messenger,” but this is wrong. The Messenger (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) is not alive so that the salaams of a living person may be passed on to him. If your father sends salaams to the Messenger, the salaam is conveyed by those who are more able than you to convey it and are more trustworthy than you too, namely the angels.

So there is no need for that, and we say: You are where you are, wherever you are on earth you can say, “Peace be upon you, O Prophet,” and it will reach him faster and more reliably than that.

Majmoo’ Fataawa al-Shaykh Ibn Baaz, 23/416, 417

And Allah knows best.